

Moving On: Determinants of Out-Migration from the Maritimes

This project was funded by an internal research grant at UNB under the co-direction of Luc Thériault and Michael Haan. In collaboration with another graduate student and an undergraduate research assistant I participated in interviews with 10 immigrants who had originally landed in the Maritimes but then left for other parts of Canada. The undergraduate research assistant provided translation for the interviews and the transcriptions.