

Anna Halafoff

Anna Halafoff holds the position of Lecturer in Sociology in the Faculty of Arts and Education at Deakin University. Her research interests comprise intercultural and interreligious relations, countering extremism, education about religions and beliefs and Buddhism in Australia. Halafoff's recent publications include: The Multifaith Movement and Common Security (Springer, 2013); "Education about Religions and Beliefs in Victoria," in the Australian Religious Studies Review (Equinox, 2013); "Encounter as Conflict: Interfaith Peace-building" in Understanding Inter-Religious Relations (Oxford University Press, 2013); "Buddhism in Australia: An Emerging Field of Study," in the Journal of Global Buddhism, co-authored with Ruth Fitzpatrick and Kim Lam (2012); "Venerable Robina Courtin: An Unconventional Buddhist?" in Buddhism in Australia: Traditions in Change (Routledge, 2012) and "The Impact of Religious Diversity and Revitalization on Inter-religious Education for Citizenship and Human Rights," in the International Handbook of Inter-religious Education (Springer, 2010), co-authored with Gary Bouma and Rod Ling. She is also a co-editor of a Book Series, with Lori Beaman and Lene Kühle, on Boundaries of Religious Freedom: Regulating Religion in Diverse Societies (Springer).