International Studies in Religion and Society

Edited by Lori G. Beaman and Peter Beyer, University of Ottawa

The Brill series, International Studies in Religion and Society (ISRS), publishes social scientific volumes that focus critically on research, debates, and theories in the forms, role, and relations of religion in contemporary society. Volumes have a transnational, multi-disciplinary, and often multi-sectional emphasis, bringing together insights from diverse fields such as history, legal studies, sociology, anthropology, religious studies, international relations, cultural studies, globalization, urban and gender studies. The series welcomes volumes that explore both neglected and much studied themes, seeking in each case to make a meaningful impact by breaking new ground, advancing current questions, and exploring new issues. Proposal requirements include:

- Table of contents (with the contributor's names if applicable)
- Abstracts for each chapter
- Estimated word count
- Justification of why the book is important
- Proposed timeline for the project
- Description of the intended audience
- CV of the author/editor(s)

Book proposals are invited for volumes directed at a broad audience, research monographs and edited collections. Please send your book proposals to either the series editors Peter Beyer (pbeyer@uottawa.ca) and Lori Beaman (lbeaman@uottawa.ca) or Tessa Schild at Brill (Schild@brill.com).
