

Asha Mukherjee

---

Asha Mukherjee is currently a Professor in the Department of Philosophy and Religion at Visva-Bharati University. Mukherjee's research areas include philosophical logic, ethics and social philosophy, environmental issues, gender issues, Jainism and Buddhism. Her publications include Civil Society in Indian Culture: Indian Philosophical Studies I, (The Council for Research in Values and Philosophy, Washington, 2001); Cognition, Man and the World: Jaina Philosophical Papers (Ed.) (Kalinga Pub. Delhi, 2004) and Conditioning and Empowerment of Women, (Jointly Ed.) (Gyan Pub. Delhi, 2004); "Civil Society: A Transpositional Understanding," Indian Philosophical Quarterly (2003); "Gender Inequality & Roles in India," in Gender Inequality and Women's Empowerment (Abhijeet Publishers, 2006), "Comparative Religion as an Academic Study in Contemporary India," proceedings of the International Conference on Rethinking Religion in India, Gent University, Belgium (2008) and "Globalization and Culture" in Philosophy of Cultures- A Contemporary Understanding, (Akansha Publishing House, 2013).