

THE RELIGION AND DIVERSITY PROJECT/RELIGION ET DIVERSITÉ

Name/Nom: Jason WM Ellsworth

Institutional Affiliation/ Affiliation institutionnelle: Dalhousie University

Supervisor/Directeur(rice) de thèse: Dr. Christopher Helland

E-mail/courriel: jason.ellsworth@dal.ca

Bio and Research Statement/ Bio et Énoncé de recherche

Jason WM Ellsworth is a doctoral student in the Sociology & Social Anthropology Department at Dalhousie University and a Sessional Lecturer in the departments of Religious Studies and Sociology & Anthropology at the University of Prince Edward Island. Jason received his M.A. in Religion & Culture from Wilfrid Laurier University (2010), an Honours B.A. in Religious Studies from Saint Mary's University (2009), and a B. Comm. in Marketing from Saint Mary's University (2003).

In 2016 Jason was Co-organizer for the international joint conference for the Canadian Anthropology Society (CASCA) and Society for the Anthropology of North America (SANA). He has also worked in various capacities for non-profit organizations. His current and past research interests include the Anthropology of Religion, Buddhism in North America, Food, Marketing & Economy, Orientalism and Transnationalism.